

SynVis Remote Consulting

A New Service from Steve Traudt

I may be retired from Pharmacy, but I still have the Prescription to help you!

Although many photographers have benefited from my private sessions, that option is less feasible for my out-of-town friends. But now with the power of screen sharing software, I can “link” up with your computer. I can remotely view your computer, or you can view my screen. Security is assured through a 256 bit SSL encryption. This lets us communicate in a very convenient and cost effective way.

What Others Have Said...

I just gave Steve Traudt's remote consulting service a try and loved it! I was getting the wrong colors when I printed out of Lightroom, but not out of Photoshop Elements, so I knew I had some setting wrong. Steve watched me print out of PSE and LR, then made corrections to my procedure on BOTH programs! He found the one setting I had wrong in LR, showed me what it was and walked me through a print procedure.

My remote session today with Steve was awesome! It was almost like having him seated right beside me, guiding me through the issues I was having with Lightroom and other computer/ photography problems. We communicated via speaker phone, while he critiqued some of my photos and we discussed methods to create a more interesting photo. The only thing missing was Steve in his physical form. It worked so well for me, especially, since I live an hour from Grand Junction. I encourage you all to give this a try! Trust me, you won't be disappointed!
